

PRESSURE COOKERS

5

of Golf's Toughest Holes

Augusta National Golf Club, 12th Hole

Unpredictable winds, a large creek, and a flower bed of azaleas make this an intimidating par 3 even for famous pros.

The Old Course at St Andrews Links, 17th Hole

What may be the most infamous hole in golf, this par 4 demands blind faith with a tee shot over a railway shed.

Pebble Beach Golf Links, 9th Hole

Although breathtakingly beautiful with views of the Pacific, this hole requires landing shots between a bunker and an ocean.

Oakmont Country Club, 3rd Hole

This course is famous for its bunkers, and on the 3rd hole, hitting the fairway is the only way to survive.

Ko'olau Golf Club, 18th Hole

Located alongside a mountainous rain forest on the island of Oahu, this hole is lined with deep ravines where golf balls are lost forever.